A third source of uric acid is probably the product of normal cell metabolism of the tissues; for hypoxanthine is always present with creatine and lactic acid in the juice of muscle, and is converted by oxidation into uric acid. The synthesis of the purine bases within the organism is still involved in obscurity. That the living cell can effect this synthesis is proved by the presence of nucleo-proteins in young animals from food containing no purine derivatives. CHAPTER VI THE PROTEINS The general properties of the proteins and their reactions have been described in Vol. I, p. 235. In the present chapter it is proposed to consider in greater detail the...
