Early in the year 1908, massmeetings were held in Kiangsu and Chekiang and representatives were sent to Peking to urge upon the Government a speedy convocation of a national assembly. In consequence of that earnest popular demand, on August 27 the Government issued an edict laying out a program of the nine-year preparation before the granting of the constitution. III. PRELIMINARY STEPS TOWARD THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT A. Early Reforms. The requests and demands for the cancellation of preliminary railway agreements led to demands for a constitutional government. But before proceeding to a study of the constitutional movement, it is desirable, perhaps, to make a review of the preceding reforms and attempts at reformation, so that we may be placed in a better position to see its gradual development. 1. Naval and industrial reforms under Tseng...
