He spoke to the men at the pumps; he cheered the men in the bailing lines. He told them he thought the storm was abating, and that if they would just continue to bail until noon, the steamer might be saved. . Though the passengers received the captain s comments with great cheer, Herndon knew his hope was false. He knew the sea would rise again and the wind would blow with even greater fury. He knew that a ship floating 750 tons of iron with water filling her hold, and more water constantly rushing in, could remain afloat but a short while longer. - Gary Kinder, Ship of Gold in the Deep Blue Sea: The History and Discovery of the World s Richest Shipwreck There have been countless numbers of shipwrecks over the course of history, but...
